I would like to co-sign Dan Kegel's open letter.
<http://www.kegel.com/remedy/letter.html>

That Microsoft can be convicted and get away with controlling the Software world, is demoralizing.

In many cases their product is inferior, but their strong arm tactics are superior.

They must increase profits to satisfy stock holders.
If they had competition this would be limited. With out competition what upper limit is there to their demands and power?

Mr. Gates is the monopoly of the desktop with no place left to grow. He must use his immense power to take over other industries.
